Deck Cards

The 3 characters in red at the end are ones we lack permission to use. Lacking these characters also puts 2 reward cards in jeopardy. In case we do not get permission to use these characters in time, an extra 5 backup reward cards have been planned, which can be used to replace these.

CHARACTER NAME	CARD DESCRIPTION (250 CHARACTER MAX)
Artie Abrams	He might be in a wheelchair, but never let that fool you into thinking there's anything Artie can't do. In addition to being a leader in New Directions, he's been on the football team and dated one of the hottest cheerleaders. Now that's star power.
Blaine Anderson	Formerly a lead singer with the Dalton Academy Warblers, Blaine is now a star performer for New Directions as well as McKinley High Senior Class President.
Brittany Pierce	A Cheerio who originally joined New Directions as a spy, Brittany is not only a great singer but one of the best dancers as well.
Finn Hudson	The football quarterback who was tricked into joining New Directions when he was overheard singing in the shower, Finn quickly became the leader.
Kitty Wilde	Beautiful, icy, determined Kitty is the latest Cheerio to bring her manipulative ways to New Directions.
Kurt Hummel	The first openly gay student at McKinley High, Kurt was not only a member of New Directions, but also a football player and a Cheerio. He even sang for the Dalton Academy Warblers for a time before moving to New York.
Mercedes Jones	New Directions' resident diva, Mercedes was also a member of the Cheerios and for a time lead the rival McKinley glee club, the Troubletones.
Mike Chang	Initially known simply as "the other Asian," Mike Chang joined New Directions with some of the other football players. With his amazing dance moves he quickly became an important member of the glee club.
Noah "Puck" Puckerman	The bad boy of glee club, Puck is a football player, pool cleaner, and the real father of Quinn's baby. Although he's rough on the outside, the Mohawk-sporting Puck has a sensitive caring side he tries to hide.
Rachel Berry	The self-proclaimed star of New Directions, Rachel is a talent to be reckoned with. Having trained herself from an early age, she can sing and dance rings around anybody else, though this does come at the expense of certain social graces.
Sam Evans	Sam made ripples when he came to McKinley: a great singer, a good quarterback, and handsome too. He quickly settled in to become a valued member of New Directions.

Santana Lopez	The dangerously sexy Santana joined New Directions as a diabolical Cheerio spy, but was quickly won over by the glee club. With a fantastic voice and terrific moves, she eventually went on to study with some friends at the New York Academy of Dramatic Arts.
Sue Sylvester	The scheming coach of the Cheerio cheerleading squad, Sue is the frequent and persistent nemesis to the New Directions glee club. Always quick with a witty quip, Sue never stops pushing for what she wants, which is almost always what's best for Sue.
Tina Cohen Chang	Although she faked a stutter at first, Tina overcame her shyness to become a leading member of New Directions. Her confidence grows as her talent as a singer gets recognized.
Will Schuester	A former McKinley High glee club member himself, this Spanish teacher took over as coach of New Directions hoping to relive some of his glory days. Instead it showed him his glory days are happening right now.
Becky Jackson	Chosen to replace Quinn on the Cheerios squad, Becky is becomes Sue's trusted minion. Always ready with a "Yes, Coach," Becky is special to Sue because, like Sue's sister, she has Down's Syndrome.
Sugar Motta	The only person to fail an audition for New Directions, Sugar uses her daddy's money and influence to buy her way into the glee club, first by starting a rival group.
Wade "Unique" Adams	Born a boy, Unique is only truly happy when she's in woman's clothes. A former member of rival glee club Vocal Adrenaline, Unique now lends her talents to New Directions.
Choir Room	The official headquarters of New Directions, this is where the glee club meets to practice.
Football Field	The battlefield of the McKinley High Titans, with the losing record of the football team the football field is really more effective as a place for the Cheerios cheerleaders to practice.
Gymnasium	The practice room of choice for the Championship-winning Cheerios, Coach Sylvester runs her cheerleaders through gruelling sessions as she trains them to be winners above all else.
Hummel Residence	The house that Kurt shared with his dad became a home when Finn and his mother moved in.
Lord Tubbington	Brittany's big cat gains fame as her co-star in the internet talk show, Fondue for Two.
McKinley High Auditorium	The auditorium stage is often transformed into spectacular backdrops for New Directions' many performances.
"Don't Stop Believin" by Journey	The first song the New Directions crew sang, it became their anthem and was reprised in a Journey medley at Regionals.
"I Dreamed a Dream" from Les Miserables	Rachel performs this powerful show-stopper with Shelby when Rachel hears her mom's voice for the first time on an old tape.

"I Still Believe/Super Bass" by Brenda K. Star/Nicki Minaj	This mash-up is used by Blaine and Sue to settle a score between New Directions and the Cheerios.
"New York State of Mind" By Billy Joel	Rachel sings this song for her first performance in front of the New York Academy of Dramatic Arts at the same time that Marley sings it to audition for New Directions.
"Ohio" from Wonderful Town	Sue sings this song with her mother Doris -- the song her mom wanted to sing at Sue's wedding.
"Physical" by Olivia Newton-John	After a candid video of Sue singing this song got leaked onto the internet, it made Sue a star...and caught the eye of Olivia Newton John!
"Poker Face" by Lady Gaga	Rachel and Shelby sing this song together after Rachel asks her mom to make a dream come true.
"Science Fiction Double Feature" from The Rocky Horror Picture Show	Santana's first solo was this opening song to the Rocky Horror Picture Show, featuring not only her voice but her lips as well.
"Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat" from Guys and Dolls	This is actually the first song New Directions sings, and they do it poorly. Only later when they perform Don't Stop Believin' does the group really show their potential.
"Somewhere" from West Side Story	Rachel sings this as a duet with her mother Shelby while practicing for her West Side Story audition.
"Vogue" by Madonna	Kurt and Mercedes make a video of Sue singing the Madonna classic, a fantastic parody of the original music video.
"You & I/You & I" by Lady Gaga/Eddie Rabbit	To encourage friendly competition between New Directions and the Troubletones, Will and Shelby perform the You & I mashup.
Jake Puckerman	Puck's younger brother is just as much the bad boy as the elder Puckerman, and just as much the ladies man.
Brody Weston	A heart-throb at the New York Acacemy of Dramatic Arts, hunky Brody helps put Rachel in a New York state of mind.
Marley Rose	Her initial performance is so good it makes the others jealous. So jealous, that one of them drives her to bulimia.
Ryder Lynn	Discovered by Finn during football practice, Ryder joins New Directions by taking the lead male role in their production of Grease.
